Patient Information:

Pregnancy Ultrasounds:

Partners and other support people are welcome to attend. Older children may find the scan of interest. Young children are rarely able to understand the images and may not be able to concentrate for the duration of the scan. Unsettled children may diminish your own enjoyment of the ultrasound and may distract the person performing the scan. Young children are best accompanied by another adult who can take them for a walk if they become restless.

Mid trimester ultrasound:

A detailed examination of the fetal anatomy is best performed between 19 and 21 weeks. This will be able to detect many birth defects. It is not possible to detect all abnormalities prior to birth with this or any other test.

Internal Ultrasounds:

At many gynaecological and early pregnancy scans more detailed images may be obtained by a vaginal ultrasound.

A vaginal ultrasound is usually less uncomfortable than a pap smear test and should not hurt. You are welcome to refuse if you do not wish to have this type of examination. If a vaginal examination is not appropriate for you, please inform us at the time of booking that you will need an abdominal ultrasound and please attend with a full bladder.

Charges:

Full Payment is requested on the day of your appointment. Payment may be made by Eftpos, cash or credit card. Accounts not paid on the day will incur an administrative fee.

Car parking:

Parking is available in the building (extra charges apply). There is only limited metered parking in Arnold Street and the adjacent streets.

Australian Government mandatory patient advisory statement: Your doctor has referred you to Specialist Women's Ultrasound. You may choose another imaging provider but as different providers have different training and skill levels please discuss any change with your Doctor first.
